ABOUT BRAVE FOUNDATION

Brave Foundation helps young Australians who are experiencing teenage pregnancy and parenting to find the resources, referral and education opportunities they need to facilitate happy, healthy and skilled families.

Brave Foundation is an Australian not-for-profit charity. Our vision is to build a village of acceptance and support around every person facing teenage pregnancy and parenthood.

In November 2015, we launched the current Brave Foundation website, in just 8 months the site has already helped over 7300 unique visitors, and received a Webby Honouree award (alongside NBC News America) and 2 Summit Awards. The site currently hosts over 160 services nationally.

Brave Foundation provides a growing online ‘Directory of Services’, which displays outreach and educational opportunities nationally. The directory also provides details of Australian organisations currently assisting those facing teen/unplanned pregnancy with resources and referral.

Brave Foundation has been cited in a Deloitte Access Economics guide – ‘A practical guide to understanding social costs: Developing the evidence base for informed social impact investment.’ They identified that the impact of teen motherhood is a significant social investment issue.

Over the past 8 months, Brave Foundation has generated over $1.1 million of equivalent advertising spend as a result of appearing on multiple national media platforms, including The Daily Telegraph, Seven Networks The Morning Show, Ten Networks Studio 10, Mamamia, Huffington Post, The Daily Mail, Take 5 and Women’s Health, reaching 2.7 million people. Our social media campaign has a monthly reach of over 600,000 people.

Brave Foundation is the first National platform building a village of acceptance and supporting 24,000 teenagers per year facing teenage pregnancy and parenthood. Brave Foundation is the first and only organisation to address this issue specifically. There has never been a national strategy to provide support for those facing teenage pregnancy/parenthood.

BERNADETTE BLACK, CEO

In 2006, Bernadette Black, the CEO & Founding Director of Brave Foundation, launched her book Brave Little Bear: The inspirational Story of a Teenage Mother (2nd edition published in 2010). The book received much acclaim, encouraging Bernadette to develop a strategy and create a national awareness plan to assist those facing teenage pregnancy across Australia. This was in fact why Bernadette Black wrote her book, as it was something just like this that she searched for at 16 but could not find.

Leveraging Bernadette’s personal experience, and her emerging role in the public eye, Brave Foundation a Not for Profit Registered Charity was founded in 2009. Brave Foundation has been granted Public Benevolent Institution status and is registered for Deductible Gift Recipiency. In that same year, Bernadette was named Barnardos Australian Mother of the Year and Finalist, Australian of the Year.

“People do want to see teenage mums supported; to continue their education with maternity leave so that they can have a really great outcome for themselves and their child.”
Each year in Australia, 24,000 babies are born to teenage women.
POOR HEALTH
Young pregnant mothers face a higher risk of complicated pregnancies and low birth weight as well as poor nutrition, abuse, neglect and abandonment.

SOCIAL STIGMA
Teen parents commonly feel that they are being judged and face a lack of understanding and acceptance from family and friends.

INTERRUPTED EDUCATION
They are also less likely to finish school and this can lead to long-term unemployment or jobs that are not secure or well paid.

POST NATAL DEPRESSION
Younger mothers are three times more likely to suffer postnatal depression than their older counterparts.
ACTIVE IN THE COMMUNITY

Brave Foundation’s core business is its role as a central point of reference for pregnancy, parenting and educational support services around Australia. We share stories of others on this journey and provide encouragement at this time in their family’s life.

Through our signature national fundraising event, World’s Biggest Baby Shower, we will raise awareness of the needs of teen parents by encouraging people to host baby shower events.

Our National Awareness Project will support teen parents to continue their education. We will deliver resources and information about scholarship opportunities to all secondary schools, hospitals and pregnancy support centres in Australia.
OUR INITIATIVES

TEEN TRIAGE

Brave Foundation partners with and promotes existing pregnancy and parenting support services and educational opportunities, acting as a central point of reference for those seeking support. Through our website and other communication channels we provide encouragement to teen parents and those facing teenage pregnancy and share stories at this time in their family’s life.

Our triage service is currently online and we are seeking to expand our reach through a national hotline to be rolled out in 2017 alongside traditional and social media campaigns.

SCHOOL RESOURCE PACKS

Brave Foundation encourages teen parents to continue secondary education by providing education pathway plans, scholarship opportunities, positive role modelling, resources and information.

We aim to distribute information to all secondary schools, hospitals and pregnancy support centres in Australia. They will receive a Brave Foundation resource pack that includes an introductory letter, information on the Policy Standard for secondary schools, scholarship opportunities, Bernadette’s video, poster, and the resource book Brave Little Bear.

BRAVE COMMUNITY DELEGATES

A Brave Community Delegate is a volunteer who identifies support and educational services that assist pregnant and parenting teens in their own community of Australia. By doing this, they raise awareness of those and Brave Foundation. Brave Foundation aims to have one Brave Community Delegate in every municipality.

WORLDS BIGGEST BABY SHOWER (WBBS)

There are two registration vehicles for the WBBS that will encourage members of the community to host baby shower events for Brave Foundation. These are:

- A World’s Biggest Baby Shower can be hosted at any time throughout the year. Hosting a Brave Fundraising event is an enjoyable and meaningful way for workplaces, schools, sporting clubs and community groups to get involved and support much needed programs for every person facing teen pregnancy & parenthood. The Fundraising event can be anything from fun runs, stadium stomps or just a cake sale at your office, the money raised will assist those in need of support.

- Women having their own baby shower can host a ‘sister baby shower’ for Brave Foundation at any time of the year. Attendees to the ‘sister baby shower’ will give coin/note donations to Brave Foundation.
